J. Thomas Creamer, Principal of Maysville High School, has been elected to membership on the K.H.S.A.A. Board of Control, representing Section 3, to fill out the unexpired term of William C. Doan.

Mr. Creamer is a native of Ludlow, Kentucky, where he graduated from High School in 1959. He attended the University of Kentucky for one year before transferring to Georgetown College where he graduated in 1963 with a major in mathematics and a minor in physical education.

Mr. Creamer began his coaching career at Russell High School in Russell, Kentucky, as Assistant Football and Assistant Basketball Coach from 1963 to 1965. He served as Head Football and Head Basketball Coach at Beechwood High School from 1965 through 1968.

In 1968, Mr. Creamer accepted the Head Basketball coaching position at Maysville High School. He was appointed Assistant Principal in 1970, and when Mr. Robert L. Biddle succeeded Mr. Earl D. Jones as Superintendent of the Maysville City Schools in 1972, Mr. Creamer was named Principal.

Attention, Correction!

In the September issue of the "Athlete", Bishop David High School was incorrectly listed in District 1 in the Class AAA Football. They should have been in Class AAA, Region 1, District 2.

Sports Can Mold Character

Guest Editorial:

NOTE:
The following article is supplied through the courtesy of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, originally written as a letter and addressed to President Nixon on March 22, 1973.

I recently saw a high school basketball game which brought tears to my eyes, gave me a bigger thrill than I've had in years and reinforced my belief that participation in sports can be a great influence on molding the character of our youth.

I would like to tell you about that game... not only because I am certain you will be interested in hearing the story of its ending, but also because I am greatly disturbed by the growing trend in this country to dismiss the redeeming assets of athletics, with its stress on individual and team achievements, pride in oneself and the team or group to which one belongs, and the hard-to-define feeling of caring for others who share with you the ecstasy and agony of victory and defeat.

The game was played in a small town in California, which has a high school basketball team that is young and inexperienced... yet enthusiastic... and, but for its height in the front court, had been written off as a contender by the local paper, by the community and judging by the attendance at the games by the student body and faculty as well. They have a mediocre pre-season record, but that doesn't matter. What does matter is that the boys on the team, with the guidance of their fine coach and their own concept of the true riches of life, have discovered at a very early age that there is an inner satisfaction derived from sharing with others... in this case, sharing the joy of a two-point basket.

These boys, at the beginning of the season, voted to accept as a member of their team a mentally handicapped classmate, who was given a team uniform and numeral. He worked out daily at practice and was fairly good at shooting baskets, but was unable to remember all the plays or remember where he was supposed to position himself on the court. He tried his best to succeed and they admired him for his efforts. They gave him encouragement on and off the field and always arranged rides for him to team meetings and games. He seldom played in any games, yet always participated in the warm-up drills, joined the handclaps at the huddle and rooted loudly for his team from the bench.

The other night, their team had a commanding lead in the game and with 52 seconds left to play he was sent in as a substitute. There was only one hope in the minds of those who were aware of his presence in the line-up... that he would score. With four seconds to go, there was a jump-ball called... the entire bench and all the fans were on their feet... the boys were yelling at him, telling him where to stand and what to do.

Attention, Principals and Basketball Coaches!
K.H.S.A.A. By-Law 27, Section 5, "Practice Games," states in part that prior to the opening game of regular season play, a basketball team may have only two practice games and/or "preview" with players other than members of the squad. The following interpretations are being given in an effort to prevent possible violations:
(1) No practice game or "preview" will be limited to two regardless of the number of teams. There can be only two including all levels of play.
(2) A scrimmage will be counted if one or more boys from different schools engage one another in any way.
(3) Any scrimmage must be completed in one session of no more than three hours.
(4) No admission may be charged to a scrimmage, only to a "preview."
(5) A scrimmage can not be held under game conditions, time or score can not be kept, coaches must be on the floor and coach at intervals.
(6) Each team may engage only one other team in a "preview."

This regulation, the same as all others, has been written by you into the rules of your Association. It is the duty and responsibility of the coach, athletic director and principal, to see to it that your school abides by these regulations. There can be little gained if a coach teaches and allows his players to break rules to which he has agreed to abide.

The ball was tipped to a teammate, who quickly and deliberately passed it to him and from 25 feet out he sank the best swisher I've ever seen just before the bell sounded ending the game.

With that, the entire team erupted onto the court, throwing towels in the air, screaming, and yelling. They enshrined him, slapped him on the back and carried him off the floor on their shoulders to the locker room.

The few fans in the stands stood cheering and clapping for several minutes.

That was when I started crying. I wept not only because the boy had scored the only two points of his varsity career, but also because I'd seen it...a beautiful thing happen. I regret I had no camera to record the event, but I will never forget it...nor will I be swayed from my belief, which was reinforced that night...that there is a goodness in all of us which, if properly directed, can have a beneficial effect on our lives and the lives of our associates. I also believe that participation in sports can provide that guidance.

I concede that there is much more in life than sports and that it should not be the all-consuming passion in American society. I concede that there is much beyond it in the fields of music, literature, art, science, and social awareness. However, I argue vehemently with anyone who would deny its worthwhile qualities or discourage its continuance in the school system.

I have never felt more strongly about the merits of sports than I did that night, when I wept as a young man of limited intellectual capacity felt the glow of receiving an ovation, and his teammates the excitement of sharing happiness with another human being.

My son is a member of that team...he is the varsity captain. He didn't play his best game that night and was discouraged with what he felt was a bad performance. I tried to cheer him up with little success. Then I told him that 29 years from now he probably won't remember the name of the school they played against, the final score or how many points he scored...but he'll always remember how he felt when the last shot of the game went sailing through the air and into the hoop, and though he won't admit it now, the tears he choked back. Then I left him alone to contemplate my words and the impact of the evening upon him as an individual.

Do organized sports always live up to their potential in building character in our young people? Of course not...but they should. Whether we are athletic directors, parents, educators, politicians, little-league coaches or concerned citizens, our goal should be to utilize that potential and capitalize on the lessons it can teach about life to the youth of this country.

The intent of my letter is twofold.

First, to relate a story that I think is very inspirational.

Second, to call attention to the threatened demise of the athletic program in our school system unless those who wisely support its continuance make their views widely known and negate the power of its most vocal critics.

I hope it will prompt you to reflect on what you, individually, can do to positively influence the structure of athletic programs within your own community.

It's the Principal
That Counts...

There was a mother who was having a hard time getting her son to go to school one morning. "Nobody likes me at school," said the son.

"The teachers don't and the kids don't," said the superintendent who wants to transfer me, the bus drivers hate me, the school board wants me to drop out, and the custodians have it in for me. I don't want to go."

"You've got to go," insisted the mother. "You're healthy. You have a lot to learn. You've got something to offer others. You are a leader. Besides, you're 49 years old. You're the principal, and you've got to go to school!"

Requirements for Registration

Girls' Basketball Officials

Interscholastic contests between member schools will be played according to the rules of the Division of Girls' and Women's Sports as stipulated in the K.H.S.A.A. By-Laws. According to DGWS regulations all officials must be registered with their group and all applicants must pass a test to qualify for registration the first year. Officials will not be required to take the test to re-register each year. The method of obtaining higher ratings will be explained at some future time.

The $6.00 fee will cover the cost of registration with the DGWS as well as the K.H.S.A.A. If you want to register accordingly, will you send the name of a school administrator that would be willing to give you the test. The test will be furnished by DGWS through this office. Materials will be sent for you to study. Officials who have been or are currently registered with the DGWS as an official will not be required to take the test on proof of such registration.

If you do not wish to register because of the test, please advise and your fee will be returned.

Registered Girls' Basketball Officials

We would like to call your attention to the fact that this is the first year the K.H.S.A.A. is registering officials for girls' basketball. 1973 Football Early Season Questions

9. Play: When quarterback A1 comes to the line of scrimmage, it is noted that he is not wearing the required mouthpiece. He sets his team and begins calling signals, but before the ball is snapped, the umpire sounds his whistle to prevent the ball from becoming alive.

Ruling: The covering official is authorized to prevent the ball from becoming alive when he believes a player is improperly equipped and it is imminent that the ball will become alive. He may take the prerogative of preventing the ball from becoming alive and penalize for failure to wear player equipment as a dead ball foul from the succeeding spot.

Comment: This interpretation is made in the interest of player safety. It is granted, the absence of required player equipment does not technically become a foul until the ball is alive. However, in this situation, the penalty may be assessed during the dead ball period, because the player is, in truth, not ready to participate. An official must use judgment in making this determination. If he believes there is a possibility the player may be able to comply before the ball becomes alive, he can permit the ball to become alive. If the ball is snapped and player is not properly wearing required equipment, the foul occurs simultaneously with the snap and the basic spot is the previous spot. It is not anticipated this situation will occur frequently.

10. Play: Prior to a game, the home management provides the referee with a leather football which has 12 cross lines and which has: (a) solid and continuous 1-inch stripes 3 to 3½ inches from each end; or (b) solid and continuous stripes completely around the ball excepting for a space 1 inch away and directly over the last cross lines on each end.

Ruling: The ball in (a) is legal and may be used by both teams if the visiting team agrees to its use. The visiting team may elect to use a leather ball with the more traditional 8 cross lines or a ball of a different covering during the downs in which it snaps or kicks. In (b) the described ball does not meet rules specifications and therefore may not be used. The stripe must be solid and continuous.

11. Play: During the last timed down of the game team A scores a touchdown making the score 12-12. During the try, A1 is offside and the place-kick goes through the uprights above the crossbar.

Ruling: This is a foul during the try and team B will have the option of accepting the result of the play or accepting the penalty with the down replayed following measurement. The succeeding try (a) A would be from B’s 5-yard line, because the try is an untimed down, the game may be extended by another untimed down which would have been necessitated by the foul.

12. Play: A kick-off by K1 is muffed by B1 at the 15 yardline. In attempting to recover, K2: (a) mufff the kick so that it goes out-of-bounds at R’s 15; or (b) bats the ball out-of-bounds on R’s 10.

Ruling: In (a) R may put the ball in play 10 yards behind its free kick line which ordinarily is the 40. The penalty for the illegal kick by K2 were accepted, it will be administered from the previous spot, since this is a loose ball foul. In this situation, K would re-kick from its 25 yard-line. If the penalty for the illegal kick were declined, R would be privileged to put the ball in play 10 yards behind its free-kick line from its free-kick line.

13. Play: During a forward pass play in which the ball crosses the line-of scrimmage, an ineligible receiver is illegally downfield and: (a) B1 illegally contacts him with an elbow; or (b) A1 blocks B1.

Ruling: In (a) the foul by A1 and B1 combine to make a double foul and the down will be replayed. In (b) it is a multiple foul for an ineligible illegally downfield and offensive pass interference. Team B will undoubtedly accept the penalty for the offensive interference.

Comment: Even though the pass may have been intended for A1, the contact by B1 is not defensive pass interference because A1 was an ineligible receiver. Defensive pass interference may occur only against eligible receivers. Had there been no contact and ineligible A1 had received such a pass, the result would have been offensive interference.

14. Play: During a kick-off to start the second half, K2 recovers the bounding free-kick before it crosses R’s free-kick line and before being touched by R.

Ruling: This is first touching by K2 and the clock will not be started. R will put the ball in play from the spot of recovery and the clock will start with the snap.

15. Play: Following a change of team possession, team B has 12 players on the field when the ball is snapped. During the play, A1 is down for a 5-yard loss.

Ruling: This foul for illegal substitution by B occurred simultaneously with the snap. The penalty for the foul would be from the previous spot and will result in 1st and 5 for A.

16. Play: During a scrimmage play, B1 charges through the defensive line and is blocked from: (a) behind in the free-blocking zone by A6, who was adjacent to the center at the snap; or (b) the side below the waist by running back A4 who was not in the free-blocking zone and the direction of the block is away from the spot from which the ball was snapped; or (c) behind, while 2½ yards behind the line, by A5, who was not in the free-blocking zone at the snap.

Ruling: Legal blocks in (a) and (b), in (a) the contact must have been made within the free-blocking zone. In (c) it is clipping.

17. Play: Interior linemen A1 and A2 who were in the free-blocking zone at the time of the snap, pull out to act as interference during a screen pass. After the pass is caught behind the line, A1 and A2 block opponents below the waist in the 6-yard zone belt so that the blocks are toward the spot from which the snap was made.

Ruling: The blocks by A1 and A2 are legal because both players were in the free-blocking zone at the time of the snap. The free-blocking zone disintegrates following the initial charges or when the pattern of play changes, but the 6-yard belt remains in effect throughout the down or until the ball is advanced beyond it. The players who were in the free-blocking zone at the snap are privileged to legally block opponents below the waist in the 6-yard belt regardless of the direction of the block.

18. Play: With 3rd and 8 from B’s 40, A1 is downed on A’s 45, where he crawls. During the play B1 held at the line-of-scrimmage.
CORRECTIONS:

RULE BOOK.
RULES ILLUSTRATED AND SIMPLIFIED:

Page 407. Caption should read: "Even though the whistle, when sounded inadvertently during this pass, the down will not be replayed. The ball is dead immediately and the illegal pass incomplete."

21. Play: R1 makes a valid fair catch signal and catches the scrimmage-kick at K's 35. The captain of R requests the official to put the ball in play by a free-kick as an attempted field-goal. R2 is beyond R's free-kick line before the ball is kicked. The kick attempt appears to be unsuccessful. K accepts the penalty and the captain of R then indicates his team will put the ball in play following measurement by a snap from K's 40.

Ruling: This is legal. R will have the same options when the penalty is accepted for a foul occurring during the down following the fair catch for the replayed down as it was entitled to originally.

22. Play: During a run by A1 from his 40 it is noticed that B1, at the 50, is not wearing a mouth and tooth protector. A1 is downed on B's 40.

Ruling: The failure of B1 to wear a mouth and tooth protector occurring during a running play and will be penalized in accordance with the all-but-one principle. The spot of the foul is the 50. The penalty will be administered from the end of the run or the basic spot because the foul was by B.

23. Play: The ball is snapped from the 50 yardline and crosses B's goal line. While A1 is in the clear, A2 takes his helmet off at B's 40 yardline and throws it into the air about the time A1 is crossing B's 10 yardline.

Ruling: If the penalty were accepted, there is no touchdown. The penalty for the foul by A1 is administered from B's 40 because the spot of the foul is behind the basic spot. The down will be replayed from A's 45.

24. Play: From A's 35, A1 advances to B's 40 and during the run: (a) A1 removes his mouthpiece on A's 30; or (b) A1 was delaminated with his chinstrap unsnapped at B's 35; or (c) A2 was not properly wearing his mouthpiece at the time the ball was snapped.

Ruling: In (a) if the penalty were accepted, administration would be from the spot of the foul, that is, A's 30 yardline and the ball put in play from A's 15 yardline. In (b) if the penalty were accepted the ball would be put in play by A from B's 20 yardline. Because the foul in (c) occurred simultaneously with the snap, the penalty, if accepted, will be administered from the previous spot and the ball next put in play by A from its 20 yardline.

25. Play: Just prior to the snap A1 notices that his team has 12 players on the field and he leaves the field across B's sideline.

Ruling: This is a type of illegal substitution. The foul occurred when A1 crossed B's sideline, therefore, in this case, a dead ball foul. The penalty will be administered from the succeeding spot.

26. Play: During a running play to the left, A1, who was on the right side of the line, crosses through the free-blocking zone and blocks B1 from the side and away from the spot of the snap, below the waist, in leading interference for a dead-ball foul play to the left side.

Ruling: Legal block by A1 since the direction of the block was away from the snap.

27. Play: During a counter play, A1, who was in the free-blocking zone at the snap, takes two steps behind the neutral zone and then turns back to block within one yard behind A1's line-of-scrimmage and contact is made with B1 from behind and below the waist.

Ruling: Legal block by A1 since the free-blocking zone has not disintegrated in this instance.

28. Play: Prior to the snap, snapper A1 adjusts the ball so that: (a) its long axis is in a nearly vertical position; or (b) its long axis is parallel to the line-of-scrimmage. He then pauses momentarily and snaps.

Ruling: This is an illegal snap in both (a) and (b). It is a snap infraction whenever the ball is tilted to more than 45 degrees or whenever the long axis is not perpendicular to the line-of-scrimmage. A snap infraction is a foul between downs and the official should immediately sound his whistle and cause the ball to remain dead. The penalty is 5 yards.

29. Play: After the snapper has adjusted the ball and paused momentarily, he then moves or lifts it without completing the snap. At the movement, B1 charges and causes a loose ball which is recovered by B2. Is this a snap and does the ball become alive?

Ruling: The ball became alive as soon as it was moved by the snapper. Even though it is not a legal snap, B may choose to decline the penalty and retain possession.

Comment: Whenever an official observes the snap infraction, he should sound his whistle to prevent the ball from becoming alive. As a dead ball foul, the penalty will be administered from the succeeding spot. There are some snap infractions in which the ball becomes alive because it is lifted in other than a legal snap. In these situations, the official will not have an opportunity to prevent the ball from becoming alive because the illegal action by the snapper could not be anticipated. Because the ball becomes alive and play has started in those types of snap infractions, the whistle should not be sounded to stop play. While there are some unusual situations in which the rare occurrences, officials will let the play continue once it has started. The spot of the foul for a snap infraction is the previous spot.
30. Play: Quarterback A1 forward passes complete to ineligible A2 behind the line, who then throws a forward pass which crosses the line and is: (a) complete to A7; or (b) intercepted by B1.

Ruling: The pass from A1 is an illegal pass. In (a) B will undoubtedly accept the penalty which is 5 yards from the spot of the pass because the down will be counted. In (b) B would probably decline the penalty in order to retain possession.

31. Play: Quarterback A1 receives the snap and starts to fade back, but hands the ball forward behind the line to interior lineman A2, who has turned to face his own goal and is at least 1 yard behind the line. A2 then throws a forward pass complete to end A7, who advances across B’s goal line.

Ruling: Touchdown for A. The handling of the ball by A1 is legal. After having received the ball in this manner, A2 may legally throw a forward pass provided it is from behind the line-of-scrimmage and all eligibles remain in the neutral zone expanded until the pass is in flight.

Comment: The purpose of these two plays is to clearly illustrate conditions under which an interior lineman may legally throw a forward pass. The difference between the two plays calls attention to the limitation which may make the act illegal. A pass from the quarterback to an eligible receiver beyond the line who returns behind the line to throw a second pass which crosses the line is a legal act. It is also legal for an eligible receiver to receive a forward pass behind the line and then throw a legal pass which crosses the line. Of course, in all of these situations, it is understood the eligibles must remain on the line until the last pass is in flight.

32. Play: During a scrimmage-kick, R1 is offside and R2 makes an invalid fair catch signal.

Ruling: These two live ball fouls by the same team do not constitute a multiple foul because the first was followed by an unsportsmanlike conduct foul by the same team. Therefore, the penalty, if accepted, would be measured from the previous spot 5 yards for the offside, then followed by a 15-yard penalty for the unsportsmanlike conduct.

33. Play: During a running play, B1 is offside, B2 removes his mouthpiece, after which there is clipping by A1.

Ruling: The offside by B1 and the clipping by A1 constitute a double foul which will cause the down to be replayed. Because failure to wear player equipment is an unsportsmanlike conduct foul, which followed the previous live ball foul by B1, it is necessary to tack on an additional 15-yard penalty against B.
