Prime Time

If you didn't receive a letter it was probably determined you didn't need a reminder based on a review of your 2003-04 schedules. We reviewed each school. It looks to me like you are currently doing great. I say that with a bit of reservation because of your mention of the nine girls games swinging "away" next year. When looking at this, I'm sure a school will also look at whether the boys' home prime time games fluctuate in comparable fashion in this two year cycle. If boys' games swing away next year and the girls and boys home prime time schedules end up being comparable for 2004-05 (whatever the percentage) then you do not have a problem. They must be comparable (but in no case may girls be less than 40% each year if boys are more than 40% each year) to be Title IX compliant. Please refer to the referenced Title IX communication efforts by the KHSAA regarding Title IX requirements. Feel free to share this message.

Larry,

Have I missed something. We have tried extremely hard to stay ahead of the Title IX requirements, and for all the right reasons. But, I swear, this is the first year I ever heard the stipulation that "prime time" had to be home games. And now I see below that there is even a percentage attached to the requirement. Was there a letter mailed to 151 schools that explained this? We certainly didn't receive one. This year our girls play at home on 9 Fridays/Saturdays. We're doing great!! Right? But what about next year? All 9 will be away. We have to look at this in a two-year cycle!!! Please respond.

This is in response to the letter I received concerning prime time games. Our Girls Basketball Coach lives at Harlan. She prefers to play on Thursday night instead of Friday which gives her more time with her family on the weekend. She also likes playing the earlier game when we play a doubleheader. If we are playing games on nights she prefers are we required to make changes to be in compliance with Title IX?
