Rex retired from twelve years of professional basketball in 2000. He played for four teams: Charlotte Hornets (their 1st ever draft pick), Washington Bullets, Miami Heat, and Phoenix Suns. He scored 9,731 points over 12 seasons (regular season points). He still holds most three pointers made in one playoff game (9).

At the time he was drafted into NBA, Rex was the youngest player (age 20) to enter the league in history.

To Whom It May Concern:

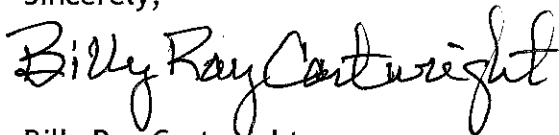

Rex Chapman as a high school basketball player was a High School All American, Kentucky Associated Prep Player of the Year; Mr. Basketball of Kentucky 1986, a member of USA Today's All Star High School Basketball team, National High School Athletic Association Top Ten Players, All State and All State Tournament in 1985. He was recently named to the top 50 best players in the Kentucky State Tournament's history.

While at the University of Kentucky, Rex won numerous awards including regular season M.V.P. and also M.V.P. of the S.E.C. Tournament.

Rex was a silver medallist in the 1987 Pan Am Games and went on to play twelve years in the N.B.A.

It is because of these accolades that I proudly nominate Rex Chapman for membership in the Dawahares/KHSAA Hall of Fame.

Sincerely,

Billy Ray Cartwright
