Cascade Raiders To Face Cabins Sunday

The Hagerstown Cabineers, twin winners over the Cumberland Old Germans last Sunday, will be back in action at the State Armory this Sunday.

The Cabins will face the tough Cascade Raiders in the feature half of a twin bill.

Kenny Ridenour, Cabineer general manager who has been disappointed at the slim crowds the locals have been drawing, says the team decided after the second game in Cumberland Sunday to continue operating. The Cascade five had already been booked, with the Charles Town, W. Va., semi-pro quint slated to follow the next week.

DAVE WHITNEY

He's A Good Little Man.

The Raiders will come here with a strong outfit which includes a number of former college players. The team has drawn its talent from Fort Ritchie, where all the players are stationed in the Army.

The Fort Ritchie five tripped Fairchild's Packets, 120-95, here on December 17.

Coached by Saul Berkhoff from Brockport State Teachers College, the Raiders build their attack around Dan Bagley, former Notre Dame star; Dave Whitney, 145-pound ex-Kentucky State ace who is one of the finest small men ever to play here; Duke Burke, from St. Peter's College, and Ted Panoplos and Carmen Troisi, both from Penn State.

Burke scored 26 points in the Ritchie-Fairchild game and Whitney canned 25. The latter, incidentally, once had the distinction of playing with the Harlem Globe Trotters. He's exceptionally fast and can shoot any type shot with amazing accuracy.
